

The Best Ideal of a Family Medicine.

A remedy which promptly and completely relieves all ailments of such common occurrence as indigestion, constipation, biliousness and disorders of a malarial type, is assuredly the best ideal of a family medicine. Such is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is not only capable of eradicating these complaints, but also counteracting a tendency to kidney troubles, rheumatism and premature decay of age. As the phrase is, there is probably not in existence, so useful, effective and agreeable a household panacea as the Bitters. Nor is it less highly esteemed by the medical profession than by the families of America. Numerous testimonials from professional sources of irrefragable authenticity evince its merits. The demand for it abroad, no less than in the land of its discovery, is certainly increasing, time and experience of its beneficial effects confirming the high opinion originally formed of it.

Brace Up.
You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with head ache, you are fatigued, nervous, and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up. Brace up, but not with stimulants, spicing medicines, or bitters, which have for their basis very cheap alcohol, and which stimulate you for an hour, and leave you in worst condition than before. What you want is an alternative tonic that purifies your blood, starts healthy action of liver and kidneys, restores your vitality, and gives a new lease of life. Such a medicine you will find in Electric Bitters and only 50 cents a bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson & Co. Drug Store.

The reason Why Acker's Blood Elixir is warranted, is because it is the best Blood Preparation known. It will positively cure all Blood Diseases, purifies the whole system, and thoroughly builds up the constitution. Remember, we guarantee it.

W. PININGER, Druggist.
Unnecessary Suffering.
Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicine usually prescribed. Hamburg Figs were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. 25 cents. At all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co. proprietors, San Francisco.

Old and reliable medicines are the best to depend upon. Acker's Blood Elixir has been prescribed for years for all impurities of the blood. In every form of Scrofulous, Syphilitic or Mercurial Diseases it is invaluable. For Rheumatism, has no equal.

Dudes smoke dudsheens. The light of the future—Experience. Those who employ the plumber must pay the piper. The value of an autograph depends upon what it is annexed to. Remembering the poor is well enough; but it is much better to give them something. The ice man may not be much of a skater, but he is able to make fancy figures on ice. "I must shake off this bad habit," said a tramp, as he gazed at his tattered coat. The Congo dude wears a buttonhole of rhinoceros tooth in the lapel of his left ear. Man is made out of the dust of the earth, and some of them are termites all their lives.

The camel is the only bird we yearn to hear warble after listening to a man learning to play the violin. It was Hogarth who said: "I know no such thing as genius." There were few editors in Hogarth's time. A new thick goulure for trimming woolen costumes is called "Khar-ton." It ought to be most awfully cheap, it has fallen so often. At a Western funeral all the pall-bearers got into a fight, but the corpse remained perfectly neutral. The latter's conduct was highly commended by the local press.

"I would like to treat—" began a Congressman, one day last week, and then all the other Congressmen grabbed their hats and adjourned the meeting by a rising vote. A Western man recently died while playing the life. As no bullet hole was found in the window, it is supposed that the assassin crawled up the furnace flue and hit him with a club.

Little Nell—"I heard Mrs. De Rich say ma was 'quietly dressed.' Did she mean that ma's silk didn't rustle?" Little Dick—"Naw! She meant ma's dress was 'nt loud."

When you hear the old veteran with a head like an oyster bowl, telling the old story of the weather beat in the twenties, you perceive that in spite of the progress of invention, there has been no improvement in lying worth mentioning. She held my heart in a willing thrall. She held my ring on her finger small. She held my respect, this maiden young. And she also knew where to hold her tongue.

She held a mortgage on my life. She held besides a fat, cash plum, she held her private residence. She held me underneath her thumb. Inquiring child—"Pa, what is the difference between sitting up and sitting down?" Pa (with perfect confidence in his ability to explain)—"Why, my child, when somebody is standing up, and he seats himself, he sits down; and when he doesn't go to bed, and sits down, he sits up."

In the days of Rome's greatness one Marcus Cassius had a large cooeyage at the corner of Appian Way and Mars Hill. Upon a certain day two of his apprentices sought to see which would make a better beer keg. Caius Antoninus was the successful competitor, which so maddened Titus Antoninus that he knocked in the head of Antoninus's keg with a beetle. Caius cried aloud in his agony as he surveyed the ruin that had been accomplished. "See what a rent the envious casker made!" Rome's downfall dated from that day.

THE FLY AND THE SEAL.
One day a fly sat on a tree near the pond intently gazing at the playful antics of the seals. All at once he said to himself: "I'd like to know if that funny business on their sides is fins or feet."

So saying, he flew to sea, and perched on the wet breast of a seal and stuck there, and before he could extricate himself, the seal again leaped into the water and the fly was drowned. "Don't be too fly about getting stuck on people till you are pretty well acquainted with their private habits."

THE BOYS AND THE ALLIGATOR; OR, THE ALLIGATOR AND THE BOY.
Some Florida boys, who had a swimming-hole along the banks of the St. John river, were often driven out of the water by a very large alligator who came to sample them. At last they hit upon a little racket to get even with him. They constructed a buoy the exact size, shape and shade of an ordinary boy, and filled it with nitro-glycerine, and took a pole and pushed it out a little way from shore. Presently the alligator came up with his mouth wide open like a steel trap, and in one bite he took in over half of the buoy, who just at that juncture went off and blew him full first about three miles up the river.

Moral—"Boys will be boys."
THE BEAR AND THE SETTING SUN.
A bear once fell in love with a setting hen, and told her one day that she might go to a picnic, and he would hatch out her eggs for her. She consented, and the gallant bear took his position on the nest in the regulation manner, but soon got up looking as if he had been reclining in a bowl of egg-nog as a substitute for an armchair. "The next time I fall in love with must do her own hatching," he remarked to himself in great disgust, as he took his melancholy departure; "I hatched out the eggs at the very first clatter, but there are no chickens in them."

Moral— This fable teaches that some duties pertaining to the domestic economy are too subtle and mysterious to be brilliantly discharged by the Lords of Creation.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is but one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boecher's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon it.

A Gift for All.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1887

THE New York World has begun the publication of an evening edition which, it declares, "is not published from love of gain but of power; of power to do public good—power to render public service—power to remove public abuses—power to punish public offenders—power to fight for the right and against the wrong." This, says the Sacramento Bee, sounds quite refreshing in these days when avarice is credited as the impulse of every action and wrong rules the world. However, California, great in all things, is foremost in journalistic disinterestedness of the kind the New York paper boasts. Mr. Pulitzer could not have heard of Uncle George Hearst, who dropped into journalism for the power it gave him and surely not for gain. Of course, the power that Hearst sought and found he used for his own political preferment, but undoubtedly he is of the opinion that the greatest possible service he could render California was to consent to represent her in the Senate of the United States. The next time Mr. Hearst meets Mr. Pulitzer it will be his right to grasp the New York editor by the hand and congratulate him upon his judgment in following suit so faithfully. Mr. Pulitzer may find, too, that he might obtain several other points from Uncle George that might be of material aid to him in his progress in journalism.

WE are pleased to see that the London Anarchists dislike the American Constitution, and if they will only conclude to keep the Atlantic ocean between them and this country, we will allow them to groan all they like at that document. Comrade George, one of Trafalgar Square unemployed, suggested "that the only way to bring about a social revolution was to kill all who opposed it, and the best way was to begin to knife them all, from the scoundrel President Cleveland to the church-going hypocrite, Cyrus McCormick." These are the amiable cut-throats who want to teach this people the science of government. If they are, as they claim to be, anxious to save the necks of their friends, who are under sentence of death at Chicago, they are adopting a strange method to consummate that object. Their actions show the sentiments of this cowardly crew, and will be the means of removing any sympathy for such a vile set of scoundrels or their friends.

THE first page of a St. Paul newspaper was recently dotted with portraits of many men. The first line of the display heading that accompanied the pictures and reading matter read, in very large letters, "A Rogue's Gallery." Then followed the words, "always contains some pretty tough-looking physiognomies," and then, after some other striking lines, came the words in smaller type, "but this gallery is of a different character; the pictures represent the members of the Minnesota Legislature."

THE use of a bustle for a savings bank has its disadvantages. A Memphis lady deposited $7,000 in hers, and in a moment of forgetfulness loaned it to the hired girl to wear to a wedding. The girl has not returned.

[PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]
The Anarchists Case. WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—At an early hour this morning the conference room of the Supreme Court was uncomfortably crowded with lawyers and newspaper men who were waiting to hear the proceedings in the Chicago Anarchist's case. Counsel for defense were in whispered consultation at 1 o'clock. Justices Harlan entered, and as soon as the room became quiet, without waiting for any motion or application from prisoners' counsel, he began delivering his opinion with a slow, deliberate enunciation. After giving a brief summary of the application, he said: "If I should allow a writ of error it is quite certain that counsel would have to repeat before the Court the arguments which they propose now to make before me. On the other hand, if I should refuse a writ, defendants would be at liberty to review their application before any other Justice of the Supreme Court, and as human life and liberty are involved, that Justice might feel obliged, notwithstanding the previous refusal of the writ, to look into the case and determine for himself whether a writ of error should be allowed. If he also refused, defendants could take the papers to some other member of the Court, and so on until the Justice granted the writ. In this case it is manifest that delays might occur that would be very embarrassing, in view of the short time intervening between the day and date fixed for carrying into effect the judgment of the State Court, as the case is one of a very serious character. In whatever aspect it may be regarded, I deem it proper to make an order, which I now do, that counsel present this application in open session to the end that early and final action may be had upon the question whether the Court has jurisdiction to review the judgment in the case. There is no reason why it may not be presented to the Court this session."

She Wants Money or Gore. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—About 9:25 this evening, in the parlors of the Baldwin Hotel, Mrs. Clara Belle McDonald, wife of McDonald, Jr., Vice President of the Pacific Bank, attempted to shoot McDonald's father, R. R. McDonald. From the facts as they now can be learned Mrs. McDonald has had a lengthy consultation with her father-in-law at the latter's room. They then repaired to the parlor of the hotel, where the conversation was continued. Soon Mr. McDonald spoke about it being late and he wished to retire. When about to leave the room Mrs. McDonald drew a pistol and fired at him. McDonald then seized her and attempted to take the pistol away, when she fired again. By this time she had fallen to the floor in the scuffle that ensued and McDonald, still attempting to grasp the pistol, was on top. Mrs. McDonald then fired a third shot, this one taking slight effect in his forehead. The guests of the hotel then rushed in and stopped further action. Mrs. McDonald was then taken to the City Jail. She appeared cool and collected. On her person was also found a dagger. How severely McDonald is injured cannot now be ascertained. This shooting is the outgrowth of well-known marital troubles between Mrs. McDonald and her husband. The direct cause of the shooting appears to be as follows: The conversation had in the main been amicable until about the time they were to separate, when Mrs. McDonald proposed to McDonald, Sr., that if he would settle $50,000 on her and $50,000 on her child she would compromise out of court pending the divorce suit between herself and husband. If, however, McDonald Sr., would not give these amounts she would kill him, her child and husband. McDonald positively declined to give these amounts of money, saying that her husband, his son, had already given her more than $50,000. Upon his refusal to accept her proposition she fired, with the above results.

A Victim of Misplaced Confidence. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Charles G. Franklyn, who was locked up late last night in the Ludlow street jail, is still in custody, having been unable to procure the bail of $500,000 required. The suit in which his arrest was made is brought by Sir Boche Cunard. The complaint alleged that on September 24, 1872, he engaged Franklyn as his agent, and intrusted to him the management of at least one million dollars worth of bonds and other securities. On October 6, 1885, he gave him $100,000 more. In July, 1885, Sir Boche demanded a return of his property, and on September 25th Franklyn gave him $328,000. Sir Boche claims that Franklyn is indebted to him in the amount of $1,300,000, the balance, and accumulations of interest.

Died of Heart Disease. MEMPHIS, Oct. 20.—The programme arranged for to-day's races was interrupted by a sad occurrence. The second race had just been finished when President Montgomery of the Jockey Club left the judges' stand and proceeded to the club house to welcome the delegates to the Waterway Convention. He had just finished speaking to the delegates when he fell back into the arms of a friend dead from heart disease. The utmost excitement ensued and a sad scene was witnessed, his three daughters and son being present.

In North Carolina. ANNEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 21.—The Presidential party reached here at 10 o'clock this morning. They were welcomed by the entire population and escorted through the streets in carriages. They remained here half an hour.

SURE CURE.—Dr. Porterfield, who is at present in this city, has worked up for himself a great name for his wonderful cure of Rupture. Alderman Lewis' son, who had a bad rupture, was completely cured by him, and asked our reporter to make public the facts. (Marysville Daily Democrat.)

A. Giles, of Sacramento, who had a very bad double rupture, says: "He would not take One Thousand dollars for Dr. Porterfield's treatment, as he has only been under his care a short time and is nearly well." (Mr. G. had a very bad double inguinal hernia.)

SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 1st, 1887.

Dr. PORTERFIELD—Dear Sir: I want to give my testimonial in favor of your treatment for rupture. My son, whom you treated on January 1st, 1887, for Umbilical and also inguinal Hernia, is now entirely cured. I would advise all who are ruptured to see you without delay.

ED. DIETERLE.

Fifth street, between J and K.

I have been ruptured for years and was so bad I would have to stop work very often. I was persuaded to try Dr. Porterfield's treatment, since which time I have not lost a single day's work, and I consider that Dr. Porterfield saved me from an untimely grave, as I was unfit for anything. If you are ruptured see him without delay.

GLENDALE NOTES.

An Incomprehensible Communication from "Swamper No. 1."

GLENDALE, October 16, 1887. EDITOR GAZETTE.—Sir: Having paid passing notice to the "hamlet on the raging brooklet" during the leaf time, I have coaxed "Mrs. Swamper No. 1," to dope our younger "No. 1" with a quart of "Mrs. Soothing" fluid and will say things of the yellow tint fashion.

Well, Mrs. Glendale has donned her "yaller" duds, and she looks well in them. Here let me say that the entire press of your boom-log camp seems to have fallen into error in speaking of this, nearly the oldest hamlet in the sisterhood of hamlets of the State; not in regard to what she is, so much as to who—particularly the size of her. The rub is, people who have lived at Glendale since the Truckee has grown from a two-bit branch to a nine-dollar brooklet, don't like the geography of Glendale diluted and absorbed by every eligible suburb within a bird's flight of Reno. Hoping these few lines, etc., I will proceed, as to the appearance of the original Glendale at this, the transformation period in the house-work of dame Nature, you might as well try to turn a Cleveland Democrat from the error of his ways as to endeavor to paint with a quill. Six or eight tourists from California via Boston—four-eyed argus of the female persuasion—"Mrs. Swamper" that it was perfectly too much ahead of the beyond of California that their united vocabularies utterly failed them, according to Boston brown bread base and meridian. (Copyrighted for the exclusive use of Boston climate brokers.) I happened to drop in just at this juncture and blandly inquired how many firms at the Hub were running adjective mills for Nevada climate booms. The answer came in good classical Boston Latin, which "Mrs. Swamper" translated into good Missouri talk for me, and this was the gist of it: "Nary one." They were leaving our elegant (?) home when the Boston one made a remark about little "No. 1," which made me conclude that there was judgment and good taste and honesty of purpose in this Missouri band. This saying was also in Boston Latin, which "Mrs. Swamper" blushing translated to me. Now, mind, I am no judge of liberality in the translation of Boston Latin. It was to the effect that the young "Swamper" was a fine looking boy and resembled his father's side of the house. When I quote Eastern people's compliments I like to know if they have intelligence.

Crops are showing down in good shape in the immediate neighborhood of Glendale, and some of the finest potatoes, cabbages and other garden truck in the country. A few days since Mr. James Carroll, of Malone, Franklin county, N. Y., arrived, accompanied by his cousin, Mat. Keating, as nurse and attendant. He is now stopping with his uncle, Hon. Geo. Alt. On his arrival he was rather expected to die in a short time, from consumption. He has been here less than a week, but thanks to our bracing climate and the efficient nursing of his aunt, Mrs. Geo. Alt, he has already commenced to gain in health and strength. Both gentlemen referred to are very favorably impressed with our Glendale scenery. "No. 1" has woke up, so good day. SWAMPER No. 1.

War Claims.

Governor Stevenson has forwarded to President Cleveland a statement of war claims against the Government by citizens of Nevada, requesting the President to bring the matter before Congress in his next message, and concludes the very plain communication as follows:

If, in any of these matters, money, to any amount, is justly due to individuals or this State, Congress certainly ought to order payment and give claimants—now old and gray-headed—live, and the National Treasury is plethoric. I have the honor to be your very obedient servant, C. C. STEVENSON, Governor of Nevada.

Death of Hugh McCalmont.

A special dispatch to the Enterprise says: Hugh McCalmont died yesterday at Abbeylands, his country seat, near Belfast, Ireland. Mr. McCalmont was prominently connected with the mining interests of this country. He was holder of the mortgage which now covers the Suto Tunnel property in Nevada, and was also an owner in the Sierra and Plumas-Eureka mines, of California.

Damming Twin Lakes.

Hon. J. B. Gallagher, of Mason Valley, says that he has a dozen men at work raising a dam at the Twin Lakes in Mono county, California, that will store sufficient water to irrigate all the arable land of Mason Valley next year, and that ranchers there need feel no further anxiety on that subject until the acreage of the valley is much increased.

Another Transcontinental Road.

A corps of engineers and surveyors, said to belong to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, has surveyed a route from the Oregon Short Line through Harney valley, the Mail or country, passing through Fort Bidwell, and thence through Lassen pass in the Sierras. From there the line will be surveyed to Oroville, connecting with the Oregon and California road. It is not known when the work of construction will commence.

"Mute in the Air."

The west-bound passenger train due here at 8:10 last night did not arrive until 7 o'clock this morning. The cause of the delay was the derailment and wrecking of a west-bound freight train near Golconda. From passengers on the delayed train we learn that there were five cars loaded with pianos completely wrecked and the instruments ruined. Nobody hurt.

BREVITIES.

Local and General News.

Measles in Sierra Valley.

Sierra City wants a first-class tailor.

The Sierra Valley Fair closed on Friday.

Senator John P. Jones is expected at his Gold Hill home during the week.

Fourth street from Sierra street west is in a bad condition, and should be improved before Winter sets in.

A syndicate of Los Angeles capitalists is said to be considering the feasibility of manufacturing water gas in Reno.

Wm. T. Coleman, who was tendered the position of State Prison Director by Governor Waterman, has declined the honor.

It is now stated that the Oregon swamp land cases will soon be legally settled, and that the rights of the original locators will be maintained.

The Carson box factory runs with the usual number of hands and will doubtless continue in operation through the Winter, as it did last season.

Senator Kaiser, of Churehill, has disposed of one-half his business interests to J. W. Freeman, of Woodland, Cal. The reported price is $37,000.

Mr. S. P. Davis rides from the Holstein ranch to the Carson Appeal office on a tandem, and a fine figure he makes on the nickel-plated mustang.

Cattle are arriving from Northern California daily, and are being fed for market on alfalfa that costs $7 a ton. Somebody will probably get cinched before the season ends.

Railroad business is active in Reno. Nine trains were in the yards this morning at one time, and trains left for the four points of the compass within fifteen minutes of each other.

There is a great and growing demand for manure on the Pacific Coast, and all available animals in the sagebrush country are reported to have been purchased for shipment below.

It is stated that all the sawdust from the mill at the Incline is deposited in Lake Tahoe too, and that near by a trout-hatching spot. All the sawdust from the Glenbrook mills is burned.

The Omaha parties who were negotiating with J. L. McFarlin for the purchase of the property on the corner of Sierra and Third streets, where they proposed erecting a mammoth hotel, have failed to come to time.

The Reno band is about to organize a volunteer fire company. If organized it will be Roff on fire, and the members of the company will not have to look to outside help for blowing their horns. Their principal stock in trade, you know, is wind.

The real estate firm of Preble & Young have for sale, on easy terms, the finest ranch property in the Meadows. The price asked is small and the income large. Stockmen desirous of having a ranch in the vicinity of Reno, can find no better bargain than this.

Interest is lagging in the revival services being held in the Baptist Church under the direction of the Rev. Chubbuck, but there has been a sufficient number of the ungodly gathered into the fold to warrant the reverend gentleman in being well pleased with his labors.

Carson Tribune: "A gentleman, who knows whereof he speaks, says that shameful outrages are perpetrated on fishing affairs in the Truckee river near Reno, and that as soon as he can examine into the matter he will give full particulars, for he intends personally inspecting." Be more explicit. Tell us what the trouble is, that we may add our mite to the crusade against the culprits.

"Hab Plenty Money, No Hang: All Same Melican Man."

It is well enough in settled communities for statute-makers and legal dignitaries to defend the majesty of the law and set the seal of approbrium on rabble attempts to defy it; but where there is no law, or where law becomes inoperative, there is but one remedy for those who would escape anarchy and save themselves from social perdition. Undoubtedly some innocent men have suffered at the hands of an organized populace, have been unconsciously and unjustly launched into eternity by a drunken mob in early California mining times; yet when the very best appliance for dealing out simple honest justice which human ingenuity can devise fails, it is scarcely wise to throw it aside for some worse system, because it lacks perfection. Legal tribunals are not always infallible in their decisions, and the skirts of a more orderly justice have not always been clear of blood-guiltiness. Many a poor wretch is made unjustly or innocently to suffer, while the great scoundrel escapes with scarcely a blemish upon his golden escutcheon. To-day the administration of justice in all the courts of christendom is in many instances a farce. The Mormons have a system which, though crude, is nearer right in principle than our own, for there he who feels himself aggrieved may lay his case before his peers, and if necessary carry it from the lowest to the highest tribunal without cost; but who can win a suit, however just, in any of our courts, without money?

The beathen in our midst understand this, as the following incident will show:

In conversation with a bright-eyed, smiling Mongolian, Ah Foy, a gentleman for whom he did washing expressed the opinion that one Ah Chung, lately arrested for the murder of Ah Li, his Celestial love, would be hanged.

"Him no hang," exclaimed Ah Foy, "him all same Melican man; he got two thousand dollars! You sabs, no hab money, him hang; had plenty money, no hang; all same Melican man."—Bancroft's Pacific States.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Nevada—Her Probabilities and Possibilities Fairly Set Forth.

We glean the following from an article in the last issue of the San Francisco Pacific Rural Press. It is interesting, as it affords us an opportunity of learning what disinterested, but close observers think of us and our future:

Nevada has come to be popularly known and spoken of as the "Sagebrush State." Though applied to her in derision, such appellation is not altogether a misnomer. She has more acres of sagebrush than any other country we wot of. The brush grows everywhere and in many places to a large size, resembling on some of the rich bottoms a dwarf tree. If, however, the accounts of the Nevada State Fair are not greatly exaggerated, it will be found that such general acceptance of the wild sage as the emblem of sterility involves some mistake.

The products of the soil displayed at this fair would do no discredit to states noted for their agricultural resources. There were on exhibition there horses and neat cattle hardly inferior to any to be seen elsewhere, with fruits, vegetables and grains of which California herds need not be ashamed, these being all raised in Nevada.

What will greatly tend to promote here every branch of agriculture, stock-raising included, is the facility with which water can be obtained by artesian boring. Most of the wells sunk by this method, some of them over the barren deserts, have proved successful, many of them yielding copiously at moderate depths. Issuing from nearly all the mountain ranges of Nevada are numerous streams of water, some of them of considerable size. Many thousand acres of land can be irrigated by these streams when they come to be utilized for that purpose. Through recourse to dams and reservoirs, the capabilities of this water can be greatly increased. In the home markets created by the mines, the cattlemen and the cultivators of the soil enjoy here another great advantage, the markets being close at hand, while the prices realized are apt to be good.

The gold and silver mines, of which there are an infinite number scattered over the State, are yielding now at the rate of $10,000,000 per annum, the prospect being that this amount will undergo steady increase during the next years to come. This is the only country west of the Rocky mountains that is now producing nickel in any quantity. The above, though the leading, by no means embrace all the valuable mineral products of Nevada, than which few countries have been more highly endowed with natural wealth.

Despite her sage plains and her sandy deserts, of which latter she has all too much, Nevada is to-day a tolerably prosperous State, with a very encouraging future before her. As with most other sections of the arid interior, the ideas that have generally obtained in regard to their agricultural value have been altogether misleading. They are not the barren regions they were represented to be by their early explorers, who, having traversed them hastily and under conditions of extreme hardship and discomfort, got naturally very unfavorable impressions of what they saw. Already the "Great American Desert" has been expunged from the maps, and it will not be long till this, like the gorgons of ancient travelers and the deadly apes of Java, will be relegated wholly to the realms of the mythical.

BELLE LOOMIS DROWNED.

Sad Fate of a Young Lady Well Known in Reno.

From the Lassen Mail of last Wednesday we copy the following: "Last Monday evening, so we are informed by Stephen A. Doyle, of Milford, Miss Belle Loomis, a young lady who has been suffering for some time with brain troubles, visited the home of a gentleman named Van Cleve, and in the evening she declined an escort and started home. She had not returned at a late hour, and her relatives became uneasy and started out to search for her. She could not be found, and a gentleman procured a pole, into the end of which a nail was driven, and proceeded to drag the bottom of the mill pond. His efforts were rewarded with success, for soon the body of the unfortunate girl was brought to the surface. Coroner Johnson was notified and went down yesterday to hold an inquest. Miss Loomis was about 21 years old. Mr. Doyle was in doubt whether the young lady came to her death by accident or otherwise, but thinks that she slipped in while gazing into the water, and being unable to swim, was drowned." The unfortunate young lady was a sister of Miss Kittie Loomis and Mrs. McRae, of Reno, and her tragic and untimely death is a severe blow to the family and friends.

The Mirror of Ireland.

The pleasing panorama, "The Tour of Europe," was repeated by the Morris Sullivan Company at the Academy to a good audience last evening. Morris Sullivan is a very clever Irish comedian, and he is most ably supported by Josie Morris Sullivan in Irish songs and dances. There are ten people in the company, and they give a first-class entertainment. There are eighty fine scenes from Ireland in the panorama, and the picturesque effects are excellent. All the singing and dancing is good, and the drooleries of the guide are laugh-provoking beyond description. —Denver Republican.

This combination will appear in Reno on the 29th and 31st instants.
